Only Women Owned Firm of its Type

As my grandmother used to say, it's not if you will find yourself in trouble, but when.

Surely anyone alive today can attest that the past few years have hit numerous businesses with a giant sledgehammer, in the wake of a devastating economy.

But many firms faced with financial crisis have come out of their hard times not only with a new outlook but also a new friend - Montclairian Kate Logan.

Surrounded by many well-wishers, Kate Logan celebrated the 20th anniversary of her ground breaking firm.

Logan launched her company 20 years ago. Though she owns one of the leading firms specializing in the bankruptcy field, her growth is the result of a laser vision approach to leading clients through fiscal firestorms.

Indeed, it's getting a business in trouble out of troubled waters and back into a healthy condition again that truly sets this company apart from others.

"While Logan & Company was created specifically to serve the administrative and processing needs of companies involved in Chapter 11 proceedings, perhaps the most satisfying part of the process is the relationships we have built over the years - from a network of attorneys with some of the sharpest minds in the business to corporate executives and entrepreneurs who we've had the satisfaction of watching as they re-build and re-establish their companies," said Logan.

One such company learned first hand how an eye to detail backed by legal eagles could come in handy, and also make a positive difference in thousands of lives.

At the 20th anniversary party hosted by Logan & Company on May 5, F. Jay Castle of Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc. said Logan's expertise was priceless when his firm went into bankruptcy.

"Kate and her firm handled our business with outstanding service," noted Castle. "I have no doubt without her help we could not have successfully exited bankruptcy."

Pausing for a moment he added, "Kate had a strong role in saving 55,000 jobs."

What also sets this Montclair firm apart is the fact that Logan is the only woman owned business in the field.

With 400 chapter 11 cases and many Tort and Class Action issues under her belt, it's no wonder her anniversary party was an upbeat and lively affair.

During her brief speech, Logan thanked her team of experts numerous times.

One major component of the firm's approach is the hi-tech yet user friendly website offered, allowing users to instantly view and manage claims data and images.
